- The printer is linked to all computers in the library.
- Fiction and non-fiction are situated at the far end of the library.
- The biographies, reference area, encyclopaedias and careers library are situated behind the computer section.

Resources

The library's resources can be categorised as follows:

- Fiction - arranged in three main sections in alphabetical order according to the surname of the author. Genre labels help to guide readers toward fiction they enjoy.
- Non-Fiction - arranged using the Dewey system. Books are classified by Dewey Decimal number on the base of the spine.
- Reference - arranged according to the Dewey System in a distinct area of the library. It includes sets of encyclopaedias, dictionaries, atlases, Local History and other books to support the curriculum. Reference books are signposted by red tape on the spines and are clearly marked 'FOR REFERENCE ONLY'. They must not be removed from the Library.

- DVDs – book-based and curriculum supporting DVDs are available for loan. The Library makes an initial charge of £1, with 50p being returned provided the item is returned within date. This is a new collection which we aim to expand in order to support the appreciation and understanding of literature, extending horizons for all.
- Newspapers & magazines – held next to the desk. The Daily 'I' newspaper is available from the desk. We also hold 'Flipside' and 'The Phoenix' magazine in addition to other general interest titles aimed at supporting the curriculum.
- Careers Section- includes college and university prospectus, leaflets and information on jobs, careers paths and useful web-sites to visit. We also hold a small selection of Careers DVDs. Our computers are pre-loaded with careers software.
- A Smart-board is available for use in the Library.
- Staff may request a book box to be made up from the school library stock.
- The librarian is always happy to advise staff on the range of resources available.
- Resources are constantly being reviewed, refined and expanded to develop pupil's research skills.

Staff Library

- We have a small collection of books aimed at supporting teaching available for staff to borrow.
