

The Core and More – How schools successfully design and manage a great curriculum 20th May, 2020

A whole day conference led by Niki Thomas, currently lead for the School Partnership Programme (EEF) and previously a National College of School Leadership Associate.

This cross-phase day will support teachers, middle and senior school leaders in developing further their curriculum development skills.

The day will provide an opportunity for teachers to reflect on the principles of curriculum design and organisation, with practical activities. It will support teachers who are keen to develop a deeper understanding of how the requirements of subject disciplines can be effectively addressed in a connected, creative and contextually relevant curriculum.

There will be opportunities to work with colleagues from other schools to share and discuss curriculum developments.

The conference will take place at Glenleigh Park School from 9.00am-3.30pm and at £25 per person is excellent value for money.
